Ybor Jazz Festival Takes Center Stage at the HCC-Ybor City Campus

The inaugural YBOR JAZZ FESTIVAL comes to the Ybor City campus of Hillsborough Community College November 3 through 7 with an eclectic range of jazz; from small combo to big band, from blaring horns to acoustic guitars and violins, bebop to Latin and from solo grand piano to the silky vocals of masters of the jazz “art song”.

The Ybor Jazz Festival will take place in the beautiful Ybor City Campus Performing Arts Building of Hillsborough Community College.

Each day of the festival will feature two performances, the more informal Prelude in the cabaret style Studio Theatre, and the Festival Concert upstairs in the state of the art Mainstage Theatre.

The Festival Opens Wednesday evening with The Concert Grand – The art of solo jazz piano. Some of the finest jazz pianists in the area will be performing on the Steinway Concert Grand Piano. Tickets are $12.50 including the Prelude at 6 pm.

Thursday and Friday evenings are true “festival style” concerts each featuring four different groups with a wide variety of styles and instrumentation on each concert. Tickets are $12.50 including the Prelude at 6 pm.

Saturday will find a series of clinics and workshops for jazz musicians plus free concerts by the Hillsborough Community College Jazz Ensemble, the USF Jazz Band and the University of Tampa Jazz Band.

Saturday Night is the Grammy Award Nominated Dan McMillion Jazz Orchestra. Tickets are $15.00 including the Prelude at 6 pm.

The Festival closes Sunday afternoon with the Gala Performance presented in association with Tampa Jazz Club. The performance features Warner Bros recording artists Kevin Mahogany. Newsweek describes him as “the standout jazz vocalist of his generation.” Kevin Mahogany is backed by the Helios Jazz Orchestra! Tickets are $30.00 including the Prelude at 2 pm.

The HCC Ybor City Performing Arts Building is located at the Northeast corner of East Palm Avenue and North 14th St (also known as Avenida Republica de Cuba) in Historic Ybor City!

Abstraction and Reality in “Symbolism” Nov. 4-29

Hillsborough Community College’s Ybor City Campus Art Gallery is honored to bring to Tampa internationally-recognized artist Dan Namingha of Santa Fe, NM, November 4-29, in celebration of Native American Heritage.

“Symbolism,” will present a series of paintings that blend abstraction and reality, that are bold and vivid in color and powerfully constructed. Namingha’s paintings contain the emblems and symbols of Hopi ceremonies, to which he is strongly connected in both spirit and person.

A reception with the artist will take place Tuesday, November 9, 5:30-8pm with a Gallery Talk about his work and his Hopi/Tewa heritage at 7pm. The gallery is located on the first floor of the Performing Arts Building, E. Palm Ave and N. 14th Street and is free and open to the public.

“Symbolism,” is sponsored by Tom and Mary James and the Arts Council of Hillsborough County.

Namingha has been painting and sculpting professionally for over forty years.

“Dan Namingha may very well be the most gifted, original and important Native American painter currently at work…No doubt about it, Namingha is a major figure,” states the San Francisco Chronicle.

Art is an important part of Dan Namingha’s heritage: his great-great-grandmother was the legendary Hopi potter Nampeyo, and numerous family members create traditional and innovative art of high distinction—pottery, kachina dolls, paintings, sculpture and graphic work. Raised in the combined tradition of two Pueblo peoples, the Hopi and Tewa, Namingha marries the colorful, geometric imagery of his indigenous roots with the tradition of twentieth-century abstract modernism. His artistic schooling includes formal training at Santa Fe’s Institute of American Indian Arts and studies at the University of Kansas and the American Academy of Art in Chicago.

“By drawing on his 3,500-year-old culture as well as his experience of modern America, Namingha gives us American art not only at its source, but at its best,” according to Harvard Magazine.

Namingha has exhibited in galleries and museums on both coasts of the United States, including solo shows at the Fogg Art Museum at Harvard University, Carnegie Mellon University in Pennsylvania and the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, DC, as well as group exhibits in Texas, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and in Europe.

Gallery hours are Mon and Weds-Fri 10am to 4pm and Tuesdays noon to 7pm. For further details please contact Carolyn Kossar, 813.253.7674, ckossar@hccfl.edu or find more details at www.namingha.com.

Lunch ‘N Learn Program on “Health Lifestyles”
Set for Nov. 10

The Campus Advisory Council (CAC), along with the new Staff Success Seminars, will present a Lunch ‘N Learn program at 12:30pm until 1:30pm on Wed., Nov. 10 in the Ybor Room.

The program continues the series started last year on the HCC Ybor Campus. The seminar, with will cover the topic of establishing a healthy lifestyle, is open to all HCC-Ybor City Campus staff and faculty. Faculty members are asked to bring their own brown bag lunch to the program.

The topic was chosen by CAC members after consultations with staff and faculty representatives. The topic seems especially timely given the disturbing health news in recent months. For example, the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) reports that obesity levels in Florida have risen from 10 percent of the population to 25 percent of the population in the period 1985-2009.

According to the CDC, obesity increases health risks such as certain cancers, heart attacks, stroke, liver and gall bladder disease, and a variety of other serious health disorders.

The CDC states that healthy eating and appropriate exercise can combat obesity and those remedies will be part of the discussion during the Lunch ‘N Learn Nov. 10.
